Words of Torah

D: An 1862 journal of a Jewish soldier in the Civil War described using a brick for charoset at a Pesach seder held in the field.

B: Torah permits to us certain animals for food, others are prohibited; the reason may be inscrutable. Violation leads to karet, being "cut off" from our people, a punishment almost as enigmatic. Perhaps the food restrictions teach us to respect limits, to temper our oh-so-human desires.

There's something special about our Monday through Friday (7:30) morning minyan service (on Zoom): We learn Torah from a variety of clergy and layfolk.

About ten people currently share the rotation (see elsewhere in this Wave). Some teach each week, others once a month, yet others sporadically. Presentations vary from learned discourse to personal insight, biblical history to current events, textual curiosities to life lessons; they range in length from three to eight minutes.

Brief discussion often follows the teachings, so we get to learn with and from one another. We invite everyone, anyone — you! — to join us for minyan to help ensure ten for kaddish, or to learn a bit, or to take a turn at sharing a little of your own Torah.

Here are (edited) tastes of teachings over the last year or so.

J: The unwitting guilt of a kohein / priest in the worship service of Torah times. What do we do when we learn much later of a wrongdoing for which we're responsible?

B: Even today, our human desire for freedom, autonomy, is up against the primate's innate attraction to authoritarianism. We seek to escape what holds us back even as we might want to be told what and how to do things.

G: Torah begins in the blush of new birth; by the time it's canonized, humanity (specifically Jews) is in adolescence, which helps explain a growing awareness of good and evil.

K: In the 80's, a "vegetarian haggadah" was published. Other possibilities? the pescatarian haggadah, the libertarian haggadah, the contrarian haggadah, the arbitrary haggadah....

R: Torah is about relationships between us, the people Israel, and our God, and with one another. It speaks to both.

K: We reside on an island, but we do not live alone. Torah reminds us of responsibility for others — the ger, the stranger, the other, in our midst. How well have we been doing with that mitzvah?

H: Mark Twain: "the clothes are the man..." How we look affects how we feel, and how we are perceived by others. The garb of the kohanim / priests is important, but it's not enough by itself.

D: Pretend to be, until you become.

R: The robe of the kohein gadol / high priest had bells on the hem. On Yom Kippur, when he entered the Holy of Holies, the bells' tingling indicated that he had not messed up and been struck down for it. If the sound of the bells ceased....

J: Which is the more lasting monument: Letters carved into stone that can erode, or words

HELP! THANKS! WOW!

Our siddur (prayerbook) contains ancient and contemporary expressions of need, gratitude and appreciation. Join Rabbi Kremer for a six-session exploration of worship texts — prose, poem, psalm — that inspire and encourage, challenge and comfort.

Pain and Joy

Holding both pain and joy with gratitude may seem inconceivable if not impossible.

Yet, our tradition teaches that a funeral and a wedding may process toward the intersection of life at precisely the same time. And when that occurs, the heartache of loss makes room, at least for a moment, to celebrate with the bride and groom first.

Our news feeds contain joyful images of relieved families reunited following the horror of brutal abduction, along with images of orphaned children, and childless parents emerging from the darkness. The 24/7 news cycle shares updates of round the clock negotiations with untrustworthy foes that have yielded fruit.

And for this we must be grateful.

How do we as come together to hold both the pain and the joy and keep from losing ourselves in the process? How can we effectively help others while we are consumed with such heaviness?

Dr. Ora Horn Prouser, Bible Scholar and Academic Dean of the Academy for Jewish Religion writes in the Times of Israel:.

"The prophet Ezekiel anticipated our emotional turmoil. In Ezekiel 24:16 the prophet is told by God that "the delight of his eyes", his wife, is going to die as a symbolic act, and Ezekiel is forbidden from engaging in mourning customs. This is meant to symbolize what is going to happen when the Temple is destroyed, that no one will engage in any mourning customs. Rashi asks why they wouldn't be able to engage in mourning customs after the destruction of the Temple. (Ezekiel 24:22) His answer is that it's because at that point, everyone will be mourners, and mourning customs only work when there are non-mourners who are consolers. When there are no non-mourners, mourning customs just don't work."

How do we function when we are all mourners - albeit on totally different levels?

".....it's ok to admit that we are all mourners. How many of the customs and societal norms that we take for granted get lost when we are all mourners? And while we celebrate the return of the first groups of hostages, our hearts are with all of those who are still in captivity. Since October 7, the world around us has changed. Alliances have shifted, viewpoints have moved. We find ourselves in uncharted territory. Some whom we thought we could count on as allies have not come through. Some people around us have stepped up in ways we never would have expected. We spend every day praying for the release of the hostages, passing heartbreaking hours making sure to read, watch videos, listen to the news and bear witness to all that is happening. We do all of this against the backdrop of a war in Israel where we have not yet seen a clear picture of what things will look like after the war. And we do all of this against the backdrop of a terrifying rise in antisemitism in the United States, a level of hatred and violent rhetoric that we never thought we would see in our own schools, communities, and backyards."

How will you lead?

As a leader and member of Jewish clergy and an ardent Zionist, I will strive to continue to create a culture of dialogue and openness with others.

I will strive to lean into difficult conversations with partners who are open to dialogue.

I will continue to be an available resource, understanding that I may not have answers, but will commit to exploring every possible pathway.

I will try to lean deeply into my relationships with "another" - so that they do not become a disconnect from the "other".

I will not close off our shut down... no matter how deep the pain. I will focus on a hopeful future with love.

Baruch atah Adonai matir assurim

Blessed are You, Holy One, who frees the captives

that remain as living text long after the stone into which they were inscribed are gone?

K: vaychulu hashamayyim...the labor of Creation is finished, yet the work of Creation is a perpetual unfolding of many physical, historical, covenantal, cosmic and human aspects.

B: There is a universal need for sacred spaces.

C: Dreams in Torah: that the dark of night can birth so many visions.

D: "vay'chi yaakov / and Jacob lived." The verb can be read as present and past, which is often true of us. We always have the power to change our legacy.

R: The dreidle, originally just a toy, a simple gambling game, was repurposed into a symbol of God's salvation in the Hanukka miracle. A classic case of Jews assimilating a non-Jewish practice into a decidedly Jewish one.

K: When Jacob asks God for protection from his brother Esau, he recognizes the dichotomy of being a sibling and an adversary (even if his perception is skewed).

C: Everyone wants to grow old, nobody wants to BE old. At a graveside service for a friend, a 91 year-old turned to the rabbi: "It hardly pays for me to go home."

K: Before Tish'a b'Av, three haftarot contain warning, admonition. Following are seven haftarot of consolation. It takes little effort to ignore rebuke; it takes a lot to recover from tragedy.

The 15th of Shevat is the New Year for Trees, known as Tu B'Shevat.

According to Biblical law, there is a seven year agricultural cycle, concluding with the Sabbatical year. When the Holy Temple stood in Jerusalem, on years one, two, four, and five of this cycle, farmers were required to separate a tenth of their produce and eat it in Jerusalem. This tithe is called Maaser Sheni, the Second Tithe, because it is in addition to the two percent, which must be given to the Kohain and the ten percent which is given to the Levite. On the third and sixth years of the cycle, instead of the owners eating the Maaser Sheni in Jerusalem, they gave this second tithe to the poor, who were permitted to consume it wherever they wished.

It takes approximately four months for the rains of the new year to saturate the soil and trees, and produce fruit. On the Sabbatical year, no tithes are separated. All produce which grows during this year is ownerless and free for anyone to take.

It was therefore of vital importance to ascertain when the new year started for produce. Our Rabbis established that a fruit which blossomed before the 15th of Shevat is produce of the previous year. If it blossomed afterwards, it is the produce of the "new year." (By comparison, grains, vegetables, and legumes have the same New Year as humans, the 1st of Tishrei.) Why is this so? In the Mediterranean region, the rainy season begins with the festival of Sukkot. It takes approximately four months (from Sukkot, the 15th of Tishrei, until the 15th of Shevat) for the rains of the new year to saturate the soil and trees, and produce fruit. All fruit which blossom beforehand are a product of the rains of the previous year, and are tithed together with the crops of the previous year.

On this day it is customary to partake of the fruit with which the Holy Land is praised (Deuteronomy 8:8): olives, dates, grapes, figs and pomegranates. If tasting any of these fruit for the first time this season, remember to recite the Shehecheyanu blessing, thanking G-d for "sustaining us and enabling us to reach this occasion." This blessing is recited before the standard "Ha'etz" blessing recited on fruit.)

Happy Rosh Hashanah for trees!

B'shalom,

THE IMPORTANCE OF MAINTAINING SYNAGOGUE MEMBERSHIP

Maintaining synagogue membership is crucial for several reasons.

- Shirat Hayam provides a sense of belonging and community. Being a member of Shirat Hayam allows you to connect with like-minded people who share our faith, values, and traditions. We offer opportunities to build relationships, find support during challenging times, celebrate joyous occasions together, and create lifelong friendships.
- Shirat Hayam offers a space for spiritual growth and development. Attending services allows us to engage in prayer, study Torah, participate in meaningful rituals and deepen our understanding of Jewish teachings.
- Being part of a synagogue community provides access to knowledgeable clergy who can guide us on our spiritual journey. Shirat Hayam offers educational programs for people of all ages- from children's religious school to adult learning classes. Our programs help foster Jewish knowledge and identity by teaching Hebrew language skills, Jewish history, ethics, customs, and traditions.
- Membership ensures that you have access to the resources needed during significant lifecycle events such as weddings and funerals. The synagogue can provide guidance on rituals associated with these events while offering emotional support during both joyous celebrations and times of mourning.

- Shirat Hayam is involved in Tikkun Olam (repairing the world) which involves social justice initiatives within our local community and globally through partnerships with other Jewish organizations and charities. By being an active member of Shirat Hayam, you can contribute towards making positive changes in society through volunteering or supporting various charitable causes.

In short, by maintaining membership, you contribute to our sustainability. It is our Jewish social responsibility to ensure that future generations will have access to the same vibrant Jewish community that has enriched our lives.

WINTER PROGRAM NOTES

2024 Tu B'Shevat • Purim • Passover 5784

Please join us at 7:00 PM on January 25th as we celebrate an environmental event, Tu B'Shvat, the "New Year of Trees", with a Zoom Tu B'Shevat Seder. Jews consider this day as a way to remind themselves of their duty to care for the natural world. We will enjoy beautiful Seder liturgy, inspiring messages of conservation, and, of course, the seven species, which represent symbols of God's creation. By eating the Seven Species mentioned in the Torah (wheat, barley, grapes, figs, pomegranates, olives, and dates), we give thanks and reaffirm our ties to the Land of Israel. This is truly a special and meaningful time.

The Seven Species Food Packages, created by Elaine Geller, and the Zoom Seder program will be delivered by volunteers to our Absecon Island community. If you would like to receive a Tu B'Shevat Food Package and/or participate in our Zoom Seder, please RSVP to Elaine at momgeller@aol.com by Monday, January 15th.

Stay tuned for additional information including the Zoom link for this exciting event.

Rabbi Kremer and Charles
Kramer at the Hanukkah Shop and Schmooze

Where can you go to become certain that our Jewish future is in good hands? Where would you go to get instant pleasure in seeing the future generation involved in hands-on Jewish learning? Where could you spend time hearing angelic voices singing prayers and songs and enjoying it thoroughly? I know where and would be delighted to show you in person.

Every Sunday, our Galeem, which meets from 9:00 – 12:00, is involved in learning, debating, thinking, mitzvah projects, and just enjoying being with one another. In addition to minyan and Havdallah, students participate in classes on Israel, ethics, T'fillah, holidays, and customs, not to mention learning to read Hebrew in preparation for their eventual B'nai Mitzvah. Galeem participated in a mini-mitzvah day during the last class in December where, in addition to other projects, they made cookies and cards for the Ventnor Police Department who drop in often to check on the well-being of the students. Although we have security at every meeting, the extra involvement of the Ventnor Police Department means a great deal to the students and teachers.

We are delighted that we have Zachary Tafeen and Bradley Kahn, post Bar Mitzvah students, on Sundays as teacher helpers. They are invaluable as classroom aides, and we would not want to do without them.

Once a month, following Galeem, Jerzy plans a Youth Group event for the students which include arts and craft projects, bowling, making Shabbat in a Box, and arcade visits. We are going to add a bi-monthly program for the pre-K, K, and first graders who want their own "Youth Group." Sooooo exciting.

Please consider this a standing invitation to come visit the school, meet the teachers, see the clergy in a different way, and shep naches from our future generation.

SPOTLIGHT ON

HERMAN (HY) SOLOF z'l

Hy Solof was 102 years young and a long-time member of Beth Judah/Shirat Hayam when he recently passed. He was known by many names: Mr. King (a nod to being the popular owner of King Liquor Store for many years), dedicated family man, proud veteran, RV traveler, story-teller, joke master. Many who knew Hy fondly remember him by the most important title – mensch.

An inspiration to many Beth Judah/Shirat Hayam members, Hy was married to his wife Rose for 72 years. They were a team, Rose the “mistress of the Beth Judah kitchen” and Hy the manager of daily minyan. As Rabbi Kremer noted in his eulogy, Hy “got great pleasure from those services, which enhanced his regular practice of prayer.... After he retired, he became to the chapel what Rose was to the kitchen, inviting, cajoling, directing — being the heart of the daily minyan.”

For many years Hy regularly attended programs at Beron JOAS, and he enjoyed the many friendships fostered there. His home computer gave him the ability to communicate with others - as well as zoom Shirat Hayam's daily and Shabbat services.

Hy is survived by his three children, Allen, Elayne Zelda, and Sandy Clott (Steve). His grandchildren, Stu Clott (Nicole) and Sharon Kantor (Jared) have wonderful memories of camping trips with Rose and Hy, memories which will, of course, be shared with Hy's great-grandchildren, Miles, Rosie, Brody, Hudson, and Robyn.

Hy's was a life well lived.

JENNY WAGNER

Jenny grew up in Plainfield, Vermont, a small town with more cows than people. She is an only child, her parents divorced when she was young. Plainfield was also the home of Goddard College, a small progressive (= hippy dippy) college. Her mother taught psychology at Goddard. It was a rather unique way to grow up, in such a small town her friends ranged from other Goddard “hippie” kids to farm kids who couldn't come to school until the morning milking was done.

She went to Williams College, in the fifth class that accepted women. She was a Chemistry major with a minor in Computer Science and was also very involved in theater and choral singing. One of her work study jobs through all four years at Williams was a costumer's assistant in the Theater department; when she has the right equipment, she's a fairly competent seamstress. After Williams, she went on to get a M.S. and Ph.D. from MIT in Operations Research.

At Williams, she met her husband, Ken Goodman --- he also was also involved in theater usually doing sets and lights. He was Jewish, and when they decided to marry Jenny decided to become a Jew-by-choice, so they could establish a Jewish home. Jenny dawdled; she took the conversion courses right as they got married, took to telling people she was Jewish, but kept saying “I'll do the formal conversion before I have kids”. Five years later, she made it just in time --- the final ceremony was a month before her first daughter Lily was born. Her second daughter, Abby, came along four years later.

Step by step she got drawn into synagogue life, they were members of Temple Sinai in Brookline, MA for 25 or so years --- she was their newsletter editor for 15+ of those, became a board member, and was on track to be Vice President when she moved to South Jersey to become the Dean of Business at Stockton College. Once in NJ, it took her a few years to connect with Jewish life here, but she eventually found a home at Temple Emeth Shalom and now Shirat Hayam.

She's incredibly grateful for her Shirat Hayam family, who literally carried her through when she was widowed a couple of years ago. We appreciate her work on the Wave, on the Board, and now as Treasurer.

A Message from Todd M. Cohen

I participated in Shabbat morning services on August 19, 2023 and November 4, 2023. On August 19th I chanted Haftara Shoftim, presented the D'var Torah speech, and led Adon Olam. On November 4, 2023 I chanted Haftara Vayera, presented the D'var Torah speech, and led Adon Olam. My thanks to Rabbi Kremer, Cantor Wolbransky, Cantor Kulp, and Cathy Kunkle for their cooperation and encouragement. My thanks to everyone who attended these services, as I dedicated my participation in loving memory of my wonderful parents, Frank and Annell "Nancy" Cohen's 65th anniversary and my best friends, Carol and Jeff Rickel, and in loving memory of my Dad, Frank Cohen's 90th birthday, and in honor of my 64th birthday.
